Upon approval of this application, we will contact within 3 to 7 business days after submission. A per unit price quote will be provided to you along with manufacturing details. If you are denied, and we very rarely deny applications, we are willing to work with you and let you know the issues we had with your application.

Disclaimer: All information on this application is kept strictly confidential, and shall only be viewed by you and Worldwide Wholesale Warehouse, Inc.

We look forward to establishing a long lasting, and successful, business relationship!

Additional Information

We offer ALL of our products available on our website for Private Label. This includes all of our body butters, carrier oils, essential oils, and candle wax. We can make whipped butters but in very small batches.

We will also need to know if you intend on supplying us with your labels or if we need to order them and then bill you for them later on. We can provide label sizes should you decide to use our containers. Specifics will be worked out with our Private Label Coordinator. We do NOT design labels nor do we print them in-house. You will need to design your own labels.

We recommend using our PET amber bottles and jars for your products as they have seen the most success. If you prefer another color, such as green, white, or black, we can source these for you but they may cost more per unit. Please note that it can take a long time to source these and get them restocked due to supply chain issues (as of August 2022). You may also send us your plastic containers you wish for us to use.

We do NOT work with glass containers with the minor exception of 1oz essential oils. Glass tends to get dropped, and shattered, and takes a long time to clean up depending on the product. Essential oils in 1oz size are an exception due to how strong the oils are.

If you want us to Private Label a product we do not carry, we can source it for you. However, if you already have a source, you can have the product sent directly to us.

If your product is a mixture of various products, we will need to know your exact recipe to help us recreate it. A NDA will be signed by both parties to help protect your recipe. This will help us get a better idea on time and labor costs that factor into your final price quote.

We can provide shipping for your products to wherever you wish for them to go. For example, we can ship directly to Amazon, Walmart, your house, or your store. Primarily, we will use UPS for a few cases of your product but we can provide LTL shipping for pallets. If you would prefer, you may also provide your own shipping. We have a forklift and a loading dock for LTL shipments.

Billing will be negotiated with our billing department and our Private Label Coordinator. In general, we expect payment before your product ships.
